HOW TO USE THE SUPPLEMENT.

THE titles of the articles and defined words and phrases are repeated in the order in which they are to be found in the AMERICAN AND ENGLISH ENCYCLOPÆDIA OF LAW, Second Edition. At the top of each page are given the name of the subject and the pages thereof which are supplemented by reference to and statement of the late cases. Thus :

956-961

AGENCY.

Vol. I.

at the top of a page signifies that pages 956 to 961 of the article "Agency" in the first volume of the Second Edition are supplemented.

In both text and notes the catch lines which appear in the Second Edition are here repeated in connection with new cases, thereby denoting that such new cases support the statement of law made in the text or notes of the Second Edition under the corresponding catch line.

The large heavy-faced figures refer to the pages of the volume of the Second Edition. The smaller figure following the page number in the notes refers to the original note numbered by that same figure on that page. Thus, a note numbered 950. 2., with cases cited, indicates that those cases support the proposition to which the cases in note 2 on page 950 were cited.

In some instances the new cases have necessitated the writing of new text, and the fact that such text is new is indicated by inclosing it with brackets. In the notes great freedom has been indulged in stating new illustrations and applications.

The omission of a title that appeared in the Second Edition implies that no new cases on that subject have been found.

HOW TO USE THE GIBBS METHOD

The purpose of this report is to show how the Gibbs method can be used to solve problems in the theory of functions of a complex variable. It is assumed that the reader is familiar with the basic concepts of complex analysis.

1. INTRODUCTION

The Gibbs method is a powerful tool for solving problems in the theory of functions of a complex variable. It is based on the idea of using a series of functions to approximate a given function.

In the first volume of the series, the Gibbs method is applied to the problem of finding the zeros of a function. In the second volume, it is applied to the problem of finding the poles of a function. In the third volume, it is applied to the problem of finding the residues of a function.

So a municipal ordinance requiring the use of asphalt from a foreign state is not a violation of the statute. Field v. Barber Asphalt Paving Co., 194 U. S. 618.

Patents. — The statute does not refer to that restraint which may arise from reasonable and legal conditions imposed upon the assignee or licensee of a patent by the owner thereof, restricting the terms upon which the article may be used and the price to be demanded therefor. Bement v. National Harrow Co., 186 U. S. 70; U. S. Consolidated Seeded Raisin Co. v. Griffin, etc., Co., (C. C. A.) 126 Fed. Rep. 364.

The Proper Test as to the legality of the combination is not what the agreement under which it is formed professes, but what it accomplishes. To constitute a combination a violation of the statute it is not necessary that it shall by its terms refer to interstate commerce, but it is sufficient if its purpose and effect are necessarily to restrain interstate trade. Gibbs v. McNeeley, (C. C. A.) 118 Fed. Rep. 120.

But if the combination promotes, or only incidentally or indirectly restricts, competition, while its main purpose and chief effect are to promote business and increase trade, it is not illegal. Phillips v. Iola Portland Cement Co., (C. C. A.) 125 Fed. Rep. 593; Whitwell v. Continental Tobacco Co., (C. C. A.) 125 Fed. Rep. 454.

Inman*, (C. C. A.) 131 Fed. Rep. 182. Compare Northern Securities Co. v. U. S., 193 U. S. 197, affirming 120 Fed. Rep. 721, per Brewer, J., concurring, but holding that the statute should not be construed as including contracts, reasonable or unreasonable, in restraint of interstate trade, but that its application should be limited to such contracts as constitute an unreasonable restraint of interstate trade.

Validity Determined by Effect upon Interstate Commerce, Not by Intention with Which Formed.

— Chesapeake, etc., Fuel Co. v. U. S., (C. C. A.) 115 Fed. Rep. 615; Ellis v. Inman, (C. C. A.) 131 Fed. Rep. 182. Compare Swift v. U. S., 196 U. S. 375.

Every Contract, Combination, or Conspiracy, the necessary effect of which is to stifle or to directly and substantially restrict competition in commerce among the states, is in restraint of interstate commerce, and violates the statute. *Whitwell v. Where Elements of Scheme Are Lawful. — Although the constituent elements of a scheme may be lawful when considered separately, they may, when bound together by the intent of the parties, constitute as a whole an unlawful combination. Swift v. U. S., 196 U. S. 375.

Lawful Restriction on Sale of Property. — A contract between a corporation furnishing quotations and a telegraph company, restricting the communication to others of the quotations furnished by the corporation to the telegraph company, does not constitute a monopoly or an attempt at monopoly or contract in restraint of trade, either under the statute or at common law, the corporation being under no obligation to communicate the quotations to any one. *Board of Trade v. 1103. e. RESTRICTIONS ON AMOUNT OF AID — Express Restrictions. — See notes 5, 6.

1099. 1. Restrictions on Issuance of Bonds by New Counties. — The Kansas statute prohibits merely the actual issuance of bonds within a year after organization of a county, and does not prohibit the filing of a petition for an election to determine whether railroad-aid bonds shall be issued. Corning v. Meade County, (C. C. A.) 102 Fed. Rep. 57.

But the bonds are invalid where the election authorizing their issuance was held within a year after the organization of the township. Sage v. Fargo Tp., (C. C. A.) 107 Fed. Rep. 383.

2. Particular Statutes. — Alden v. Easton, (C. C. A.) 113 Fed. Rep. 60 (Special Laws Minn. 1868, c. 47); Demaree v. Bridges, 30 Ind. App. 131; Clifton v. Hobgood, 106 La. 535 (Acts La. 1880, No. 84; 1886, No. 35; 1894, No. 153).

3. Graves v. Moore County, 135 N. Car. 49.

5. Schmitz v. Zeh, 91 Minn. 290.

8. Consolidated Companies. — In Henderson County v. Travelers' Ins. Co., (C. C. A.) 128 Fed. Rep. 817, a county authorized to subscribe to the stock of a railroad company whose railroad was projected through the county was held to be authorized to subscribe to the stock of another railway company with which the former was consolidated.

Protection of Bona Fide Holders of Bonds. — Bona fide holders of bonds issued in payment of municipal subscriptions to the stock of a railway company may be entitled to protection in the enforcement of the bonds by recitals therein though the railway company was not a corporation to whose stock the municipality could lawfully subscribe. Municipal Trust Co. v. Johnson City, (C. C. A.) 116 Fed. Rep. 458.

1100. 3. Graves v. Moore County, 135 N. Car. 49. See, however, Stanly County v. Coler, 190 U. S. 437, affirming 113 Fed. Rep. 705, 51 C. C. A. 379, which reversed on rehearing 96 Fed. Rep. 284, 37 C. C. A. 484.

5. Domestic and Foreign Corporations Consolidated. — Municipal Trust Co. v. Johnson City, (C. C. A.) 116 Fed. Rep. 458.

6. Contra. — Stanley County v. Coler, 190 U. S. 437, affirming 113 Fed. Rep. 705, 51 C. C. A. 379, which reversed on rehearing 96 Fed. Rep. 284, 37 C. C. A. 484.

9. Wilkes County v. Coler, 113 Fed. Rep. 725, 51 C. C. A. 399, affirmed 190 U. S. 437.

1101. 5. De Facto Railway Companies. — James v. Arkansas Southern R. Co., 110 La. 145.

8. "Roads." — Washington County v. Williams, 111 Fed. Rep. 801, 49 C. C. A. 621 ("any road"); Washington County v. David, (Neb. 1902) 89 N. W. Rep. 737.

1102. 1. Irrigation Canals are works of "internal improvement" so as to authorize bonds in aid thereof. Keith County v. Citizens' Sav., etc., Assoc., (C. C. A.) 116 Fed. Rep. 13.

But a State Normal School has been held not to be within the Nebraska statute authorizing the issuance of bonds "in aid of works of internal improvements, improving streets in cities of the second class, and villages, highways," etc. State v. Weston, (Neb. 1903) 96 N. W. Rep. 668, distinguishing Traver v. Merrick County, 14 Neb. 327; Cummings v. Hyatt, 54 Neb. 35.

11. Bonds to Purchase Land for Depot Purposes have been held to be authorized under a statute authorizing a municipality to issue bonds in aid of the construction of a railroad. Jefferson v. Jennings Banking, etc., Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1904) 79 S. W. Rep. 876, 30 Tex. Civ. App. 534.

12. Colburn v. McDonald, (Neb. 1904) 100 N. W. Rep. 961, citing 20 AM. AND ENG. ENCYC. OF LAW (2d ed.) 1102.

1103. 5. Aid by Both County and Town. — The Louisiana statute limiting to a tax of five mills on the dollar the amount to which any parish, municipality, etc., shall be authorized to vote aid in favor of any railroad company, does not prohibit a town from voting aid to such extent because the county in which the town is situated has already voted an aid tax of such amount. Vicksburg, etc., R. Co. v. Goodenough, 108 La. Ann. 442.

Evidence as to Amount of Taxable Property. — Where the amount of aid which may be granted to a railway is limited to a certain proportion of the taxable property of the municipality, the assessment roll of the municipality for the year prior to the issuance of the bonds is not conclusive as to the amount of such taxable property. Municipal Trust Co. v. Johnson City, (C. C. A.) 116 Fed. Rep. 458.

7. What Constitutes Improper Influence of Voters. — A public offer to employ citizens of the municipality in the construction of the work of internal improvements for which aid is to be granted is not a corrupt practice which will invalidate bonds issued in pursuance of such election. Perkins County v. Graff, (C. C. A.) 114 Fed. Rep. 441.

Rule in New York. — In People v. Koenig, 180 N. Y. 155, it was held that the design to kill must precede the killing by some appreciable space of time, and though the time need not be long, it must be sufficient for some reflection and consideration upon the matter, for choice to kill or not to kill, and for the formation of a definite purpose to kill, and when the time is sufficient for this it matters not how brief it is; and whether a deliberate and premeditated design to kill was formed must be determined from all the circumstances of the case. Trespassers and Licensees. — The distinction is important in cases where the law imposes no duty of active vigilance, as, for example, towards trespassers and licensees. Knight v. Lanier, 69 N. Y. App. Div. 454; Wilson v. American Bridge Co., 74 N. Y. App. Div. 596. Thus it has been said that for injuries arising from "passive" negligence a mere licensee has no right of action. Means v. Kistler, 66 Ohio St. 326. But neither is the mere exercise of one's best judgment necessarily ordinary care. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Vandersdell, (Ky. 1904) 77 S. W. Rep. 1103; Carney v. Concord St. R. Co., 72 N. H. 364. The standard is what an ordinarily prudent man would do under the same circumstances. Western, etc., R. Co. v. Vaughan, 113 Ga. 354; Woods v. Wabash R. Where the ground relied upon in the motion to cancel is the unreasonable neglect "to proceed in the action," the judge before whom the motion is made is called upon to exercise a legal discretion in determining whether or not he will grant the motion. 5. Filing Notice on Attaching Real Estate. — Contra, King v. Davis, 137 Fed. Rep. 222, where the court held that Congress did not intend, when adopting state laws as rules of decision in trials at common law (Rev. Stat. U. S., § 721), to adopt such as have the effect of limiting or controlling the jurisdiction and power of the federal courts, when such effect can only be obviated by the voluntary act of state officials, over whom the federal courts have no power; they not being required by the state statute to file a notice of pendency of actions brought in federal courts. If the state legislature were to enact a statute making it the duty of state court clerks to record memoranda of pending suits and attachments in the federal courts, there might possibly be no further difficulty.

In the Case of Remarriage of the widow the right passed, at common law, to the stepfather. Eickhoff v. Sedalia, etc., R. Co., 106 Mo. App. 541.

The Pennsylvania Rule is that a widow has no right to sue for injuries to her minor child not resulting in death. Kelly v. Pittsburg, etc., Traction Co., 204 Pa. St. 623.

Under the Louisiana Statute by which the right of action to recover damage for the death of the minor child survives in the "father and mother," or "either of them," it was held that a mother who has secured a divorce and to whom has been awarded the custody of minor children may maintain such action alone. Wilson v. Banner Lumber Co., 108 La. 590.

1047. 2. Father's Right of Action Does Not Survive. — See McGarr v. National, etc., Worsted Mills, 24 R. I. 447, 96 Am. St. Rep. 749, where the father's right of action was held to survive to the mother, it appearing that there was an arrangement between them that the mother should receive the minor's earnings.

1087. 3. Orders for Goods. — Sutton v. Weber, 127 Iowa 361. But see American Home Sav. Bank Co. v. Guardian Trust Co., 210 Pa. St. 320.

But an order for goods may contain the essentials of a complete contract so that it will not be subject to variation or contradiction by parol evidence. See Welsh's Succession, 111 La. 801, refusing parol evidence to contradict an order for goods containing a stipulation that it was accepted by an agent subject to approval by his principal; Hess v. Liebmann, (Supm. Ct. App. T.) 84 N. Y. Supp. 178, wherein an order for goods to be shipped at the seller's earliest convenience contained a provision that "no agreement other than above set forth shall be binding either upon purchaser or seller," and evidence of an oral agreement that the goods were to be delivered for the Christmas trade was held to be inadmissible. So an unqualified order for goods cannot be controlled by evidence of a verbal agreement whereby the purchaser was to sell whatever he could to his customers and was only to be liable for the amount so sold. Grabfelder v. Vosburgh, 90 N. Y. App. Div. 307.

Judicial Summary of Rules. — In Eastman v. New York, (C. C. A.) 134 Fed. Rep. 858, the following propositions were laid down as following from a consideration of cases on the law of experimental use: First. An inventor has a reasonable time in which to experiment for the purpose of perfecting the invention and demonstrating its utility. Second. The time thus spent, if in good faith, is no part of the two-year statute of limitations. Third. The experiments must be made in perfecting the invention as described and shown. Fourth. Experiments made in testing parts of the machine not covered by the invention will not have the effect of extending the two-year period. Fifth. As soon as the invention is completed, viz., "in such a condition that the inventor can apply for a patent for it," the two-year period begins to run, and the application must be made within this period. Sixth. The fact that the invention has been improved since its original embodiment does not demonstrate that it was then embryonic or incomplete. Seventh. When a clear case of prior public use is established the burden is on the inventor to prove by convincing proof that the use was experimental.
